Type of the Article

General guideline:

This journal believes that no manuscript should be rejected only based on 'lack of Novelty', provided the manuscript is sufficiently robust and technically sound. Too often a journal's decision to publish a paper is dominated by what the Editor/reviewer thinks is interesting and will gain greater readership - both of which are subjective judgments and lead to decisions which are frustrating and delay the publication. This journal will rigorously peer-review your submissions and publish all papers that are judged to be technically sound.

If you have suggestions for additional references, please mention them in the review form. (Apart from above mentioned 6 points, reviewers are free to provide additional suggestions/comments)	The current manuscript deals with the potentials of sorghum in malt and gluten-free beer production. The manuscript is important for the scientific community and local population given the key role plays by sorghum in nutrition and food security in many countries over the world. The title should be rephrased as follows: "Comprehensive review of the potential of sorghum in malt and beer production". The abstract is a little comprehensive because there is not information about beer production. Authors only insisted on malting stage and the others stages (mashing, cooking, fermentation etc...) of beer processing have not been mentioned. There are some missing subsections. Some of the references are not recent and need to be up-to-date.
Minor REVISION comments <ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Is the language/English quality of the article suitable for scholarly communications?	The English quality of the article is acceptable for scholarly communications.
